

Wanted: Experienced Financial Services Professionals

Are you an experienced professional financial consultant looking to move to the next level?
Are you looking for a company with the tools and service back up to do the very best for your clients?

Then take a look at Infinity.....

Well established, stable and secure: Infinity has experienced over ten years of profitable growth and opened offices in six countries across Asia. We aim to continue expanding our office network in the Middle and Far East. In this environment there are ample opportunities for experienced financial professionals to develop and take their careers to new highs.

Total independence and a big toolbox: As a truly independent advisory firm Infinity does not favour particular providers. We maintain terms of business with most of the leading providers meaning our consultants are free to select the products that best match the needs of their clients.

Exclusive Discretionary Management Services: One relationship which does differentiate us from our competitors is the ability to offer truly world class investment management on an exclusive basis.

Tilney, based in London, is a leading private client investment manager and winner of multiple, major industry awards. The Infinity/ Tilney relationship is one of the cornerstones of our business and allows our consultants to present world-class investment solutions unavailable to our competitors. Its portfolio range is independently monitored and consistently produces above-benchmark returns.

Well Regulated: Infinity is regulated in Malaysia by the Labuan Financial Services Authority and in Hong Kong by the Confederation of Insurance Brokers (HKICB). The other offices adhere to the same high standards and operating procedures. Tilney is regulated by the UK Financial Conduct Authority.

Multiple income streams and transparency: At Infinity we offer highly competitive commission rates, trail income, discretionary fund management fees and renewals. We charge no desk fee, local telephone charges or business courier costs. All office costs are met entirely by Infinity.

All consultants are eligible for the company's group medical insurance plan. Subject to meeting certain performance targets, base level premiums will be refunded.

Opportunities for Career Development: As we continue to expand opportunities regularly arise, both in terms of roles within the company and expansion into new territories. We already support a number of consultants who trip into countries as varied as Burma, Mongolia, Kazakhstan and South Korea in addition to looking to expand our offices across the Middle and Far East.

*The possibilities are endless

We have a structure in place that enables consultants to move up to management level and can demonstrate a track record of promoting members of the consultancy team. We recognise that growth is not possible without exceptional people on our team and for the high flyer there is no career ceiling to what can be achieved at Infinity.

Strong Brand and Marketing: Infinity spends over $150,000 a year on marketing and have a full time marketing manager supplemented by a freelance team.

Our marketing mix includes; regular advertisements in publications, a strong online presence through our website blogs plus presence on all the major social networks. In addition we regularly run events and seminars as well as providing financial and practical support for individual marketing initiatives. If you have your own marketing plan our team can turn it into a reality.

First Class Administration and Back Office Support: The backbone of our client servicing team has been with Infinity for nearly ten years and provides the very best support to the consulting team.

Cutting edge IT: Technology is an important part of our business. We have state-of-the-art systems allowing 24/7 monitoring of investments for both clients and consultants.

In addition we have a tailor made CRM system to ensure efficient ownership of prospects and allocation of leads.

Experienced Management and Support:

Infinity has a dedicated training and ongoing professional development centre based in our Phnom Penh office that is on hand to assist, train and motivate all consultants whether they are fresh to the industry or seasoned veterans. We actively encourage continuing professional development assisting our consultants in obtaining higher level professional qualifications. Infinity refunds the examination fees for consultants that are successfully awarded relevant qualifications.

Join the winning team

As the above shows Infinity has invested strongly in developing the best tools and a strong career path for experienced financial services professionals.
